

Oligo Software Price List

MBI offers a 30 days money back guarantee (full refund minus the S&H price).

We provide two kind of packages, standard and the "ON LINE only". The "ON LINE only" version is the software that you download from Internet, so that a hard copy of the Manual and the CD are not shipped to you. There is no web interface: you simply download the entire software and use it as if you'd install it from a CD. When choosing this version, subtract $50 from each item price and don't pay any shipping & handling fees. When ordering the on-line version with your own PO form please truncate the catalog number with "d" (for example, for the on line version of OLIGO 7 Windows, single user license use W7SF02d), otherwise the standard version would be shipped out. After receiving the "ON LINE only" order we will contact you by e-mail with the installation instructions, so your PO form must include the final user or IT manager e-mail address.

The following Table lists the standard items that require a shipping fee.

The standard Oligo Single User License and its updates are for two computers. One copy of the User Manual is included with the items #1-10, and 13 above, three copies with #11 and 12. One CD copy is included with all the items except #5 and 13. The Single User License can be expanded to a maximum of 4 computers. Oligo software is copy protected.

Shipping & handling. You pay always the same amount regardless of the number of items ordered; the shipping price is $20 to USA and $39 to all other countries.

Payments. We accept purchase orders. Orders from North America, Western Europe, Japan, Singapore, Australia and New Zealand are on NET 30 terms. Orders from the other countries require pre-payment. We accept credit cards, US checks and money transfers. Standard carrier for the US is USPS Priority Mail or UPS ground, depending on the order size; International shipping: US Postal Service "Express Mail" or "International Priority Mail", depending on the order size.

List of FREE SHIPPING items. A copy of CD is included with each item.

Differences between Single User, Multi User and Network licenses.

The Single User license is for 2 computers that may be installed in one lab, run by one PI or lab director. It may be expanded to a maximum of 4 computers. For each lab computer license you get also one free home computer license.

The Network license may be run from a central server in the network of X computers in the entire institution, but not between different institutions. The price depends on the number of computer licenses. It may also be installed on an X number of non-networked computers. The key server is not required and there is no need for keeping track of the number of computers running Oligo simultaneously. There is one hard copy of the manual, regardless of the network size. The smallest license is for 3 computers, and there is no upper size limit. The license is either for Macintosh or for PCs running under Windows unless you have the Double Platform Access (MW7NF0). When asking for the quotation, please specify the number of the computers in the network, excluding the administration sector of your company.

The Multi-user license works like several independent single user licenses, and it may be used throughout the entire institution, or in joint programs between different institutions. Oligo is installed on individual computers, and the Oligo application software cannot be executed over the network. The number of hard copies of the manual depends on the size of the multi-user license. The smallest license is for 3 computers, that comes with 3 manuals, and there is no upper size limit. You may install Oligo on Mac and Windows computers. When asking for the quotation, please specify the number of the computers Oligo would be installed.
